Typical aquatic vegetation, numerous species of birds, monasteries tucked away on its picturesque slopes, the intriguing variety of natural landscapes – all of this can be seen and experienced from the river and the lake. The Saint Nicholas monastery, lying on the very bank of the river, features the oldest church of all the Ovčar Kablar Gorge monasteries, dating back to 15th century. The monastery can also be reached from its river docking, and the nuns will welcome you in a wonderful, peaceful environment that you will enjoy.

Recognised as an area of outstanding natural landscape, the Ovčar Kablar Gorge is located just a few kilometres from Čačak. A region rich in diverse flora and fauna, extensive forest complexes, lakes and thermal-mineral springs, the Ovčar Kablar Gorge is also popularly known as the Little Holy Mountain of Serbia, owing to a number of local monasteries dating back to the Middle Ages.
